

CYBER SECURITY BEST PRACTICES

- Educate your employees on proper information security
- Establish standards employees must follow
- Develop a comprehensive information security program
- Revisit standards and best practices often
- Determine vulnerabilities
- Create an incident response plan

Are you covered? There are two types of cyber liability insurance:

First-party coverage helps cover expenses when your systems or network are breached or your data is stolen. Third-party coverage offers protection when a client sues your company for failing to prevent a breach at their business. Contact your insurance agent, broker or company representative for more information on how to protect your business and what different coverages are available.